7. Round Table

Sarah Kaut reported that nothing too much was happening due to this virus. They are having an increase in traffic and increase in recyclables - 300-400 cars vehicles a day. People are at home doing little projects and making us extremely busy. Our recyclable centre is closed two days a week, Tuesday and Thursdays to prepare to protect customers and staff.

Bob Savidon reported that their shredder, which was designed for 80% is not working well. It will not shred mattresses. There is a new machine from Australia that gathers up screenings and cleans the roadway. John Deere has a skid steer loader for $85,000.00 that shreds shingles into 3 inch shred, which is a dust suppressive in the landfill and on top of the landfill.

Art Sawatzky reported that the COVID protocol is used at the Eco Centre. They have shut down the collection of oil. The proposed building for MSW is postponed with layoffs of a few people. This year, dry waste is down and residential is up due to COVID. One third of their budget has been cut. They are having public consultation on the Bio Energy Pilot (1.3 million), which would do 8 tonnes a day. They have environmental approval. This would heat three shops.

Dennis Lang report that things are busy and people are frustrated. Mixed messages and not enough education regarding the protocols.

Dennis Zahacy reported that things were status quo. The oil field is down so our support deal is not happening. Although the weather has been good, so that is a plus.

Bruce Underhay reported that they are looking to purchase an Evaporator System. Our spring clean up was done and no cost to the consumer.

Jennifer Besinger reported that there has been an increase in residential waste. They are looking at buying a Terminator. They are looking at bringing back the abandoned shingle project as there is a need for the shingles. One leachate option is shipping it to the neighbors lagoon (Aquatera). They are updating their web site. They are looking at an interactive recycling site.

Ron Pelensky reported that they are receiving more residential waste. They have had to lay off staff. Their recycling goes to Prairie Disposal. We have one site that we pick up the blue bins and truck it into Prairie Disposal.

Jim Haile reported that they do not have any cases of COVID in the Town of Fox Creek.

8. Adjournment at 10:22 a.m.
